

2016 Archive of Modern American Warfare Symposium “ISIS and the Global War on Terrorism”

Sponsored by:

The Archive of Modern American Warfare, Texas Tech University
The College of Media and Communication, Texas Tech University

TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY

Archive of Modern American Warfare™

TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY

College of Media
& Communication™

September 15, 2016

International Cultural Center, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas

Registration is now open for the inaugural Archive of Modern American Warfare Symposium at Texas Tech University. This symposium will feature presentations on many facets of radical Islamic groups such as ISIS and the Global War on Terrorism including laws governing 21st century armed conflict, the role of popular support in combating terrorism, tactics and strategies used by ISIS, the Muslim view of radical Islamic terrorism, and other related topics. For a detailed listing of presentations, refer to the program agenda available at www.amaw.ttu.edu.

To register for this event, please send your full name to andrew.hinton@ttu.edu. A luncheon will be made available for the first 100 people to register. When registering, please indicate if you would prefer the vegetarian option. There is no cost to this event. The deadline to register is September 1st.